Logo Magic Field Trip

The students in grades 3-8 went to Logo Magic this week. This is the business that printed our green t-shirts last summer. They were very hospitable to us, showing us each of the several machines they use to produce logos on just about any imaginable product.

Fortunate: I liked that it's so easy to put something on [metal] water bottles. They used a machine that takes off the coating by using a laser.

Mosheh: The laser cutter that engraves stuff was pretty cool to watch. The embroidery was fun to watch too. The needle went really fast.

Hazy: I really liked the embroidery machines! It was so fun watching them work. I think I could have watched them for hours!

Mrs. Wright: The embroidery machines are computerized, so when an image is in the computer, several needles can be rapidly stitching the same design on several different caps, shirts, coats, etc. at once. It shows on the screen where it is in the process of completing the design. Ebnay: I liked how the sewing is made to move side-to-side and stop when it's supposed to and cut its own thread.

Brianna: I liked that we made our own shirts.

There was ink on one side and we brushed it to the front over the top. Then we lifted the thing up and the design was on the shirt. Then they put it on a big thing [conveyor belt] that dries it because it's hot inside it [630 degrees].
